Are You Engaged?

Engaged people should remember that after marriage many quarrels can be avoided, by keeping their digestions in good condition with Electric Bitters. S. A. Brown of Bennington, S. C., says: "For years my wife suffered intensely from dyspepsia, complicated with a torpid liver, until she lost her strength and vigor and became a mere wreck of her former self. Then she tried Electric Bitters, which helped her at once and finally made her entirely well. She is now strong and healthy." SENSATIONAL LITERATURE CAUSE

Nashua, N. H., Young Man Committed Suicide.

Nashua, N. H., Sept. 11.—His mind poisoned by excessive reading of dime novels and other cheap literature, Ralph W. Codman Saturday night shot and killed himself.

The suicide was at 10 Church street, where Codman lived with his mother and stepfather. Codman was only 20 years old and while he has worked from time to time (it is understood that of late he had declined to do anything.) He constantly had a supply of sensational novels and would shut himself up in his room for hours reading them.

At 9:50 Saturday night Charles H. Baldwin, who lives in the same house, was startled by a revolver shot and as jumped from bed he heard Codman's mother crying out. He rushed out doors and there found the woman, who said that someone had been murdered in her room. He called the police and they got city physician William E. Reed and medical referee J. T. Greeley. The boy lived for a short time after the physicians arrived. The bullet had entered his head.

Codman's father, F. N. Codman, committed suicide seven years ago by taking prussic acid in a saloon here. Since Codman's death a music instructor.

New Industry in Burlington.

Workmen began today to repair the old pottery building in Burlington and make it ready for occupancy by Johnson, Richardson & Co., limited, dye manufacturers of Montreal. The present alterations will include the repairing of the floors and windows. The work will be done by D. W. C. Clapp. When completed the building will include about 6,000 feet of floor space. A. E. Richardson, a member of the Montreal firm which is repairing the building, said that the plans of the company regarding the building were not definitely settled as yet, but that in all probability next spring the company would make extensive alterations on the building and install in it a branch manufacturing house of their Montreal dye firm.

St. Michael's Institute Opened.

The Rev. R. D. Cahill of the Catholic diocese of Burlington has gone to St. Michael's Institute at Winoski park, where he will be teacher of English. The institute opened last Tuesday with an attendance of 33 pupils. These are 45 young children who remained there during the past year and studied various trades during the summer. The remaining pupils are children who live nearby and have homes. The school has a base ball team, a foot ball team and also a brass band.

"Princess Chic" Tomorrow Evening.

Miss Elaine Von Thiele, daughter of Herr Von Thiele, for many years director of the McVicker's Theatre orchestra, Chicago, has been singing in concerts for several years, although she has not reached her twentieth birthday.

Miss Von Thiele has a pure lyric soprano, of extraordinary range, good power and excellent quality. She has studied in the best studios abroad and has appeared in opera there, her last engagement being in Convent Garden. She brings to the role of "The Princess Chic" (for which she has been especially engaged by Edward R. Salter, who secured the piece from the Kirke La Shelle estate) youth, magnetism and potent loveliness.

ARMADA'S TREASURE.

Guns and Coins Still to Be Found in Tobermory Bay.

The Duke of Argyll contributes to the September number of the Pall Mall Magazine an interesting account of the efforts that have been made for generations to recover relics from the Armada ship in the depths of Tobermory Bay. "About twenty-six years ago," he says, "I sent down a Crinan Canal diver from a yacht. He at once brought up a brass stanchion, showing that I was on the spot. He expressed full confidence in his tackle; but when again lowered, an ominous noise like a pistol report showed the air tube had given way, and we pulled him up as fast as possible for dear life, and the recuperative qualities of whiskey were finally proved by the survival of that freshwater and over-confident diver. He required a good deal; but he wanted to venture again on the same terms which were held to be too heavy a draft on the virtues of the 'water of life,' and again there was a pause of years. Then the present enterprising gentleman, Mr. Burns, who is now engaged, tried his hand, with good results. It is a curious thing that at the very considerable depth at which he is working, his man can see everything on the ground. He can walk about, picking up small things without using any artificial light; and last year's natural light was not so good as that of the gorgeous summer we are now enjoying.

"But 1904 showed the sea at that spot paved with bones and fragments and scattered coins. The money seems to have been only what the seamen and troops had in their pockets, and almost all were silver dollars. There was no Italian money, so it is probable that, though this ship was furnished by the Italian state, the crew came from Spain. Mr. Burns had nothing that could reveal what lay below the surface of the sea bottom. This year he has better appliances. But even with these disadvantages there was much of interest recovered. There was part of a brass gun. There was a perfect bronze breech loading piece, looking as though it had but lately left the foundry and had been painted green, as guns may be nowadays for the sake of invisibility. And in the breechpiece was the ancient charge and shot, perhaps put in after the last charge fired at Elizabeth's squadron. Then a bronze mortar came up, a pierced cover for a dish, a glazed ware bottle, a sword and other small objects. Much the most curious of all of these were the very compasses—two pairs of them—Pereira must have used! An accretion of lime or calcareous stuff was round them, and had preserved them, as a delicate fossil is preserved in friable stone. When the stone was chipped off, the well-fashioned little compasses emerged perfect, and ready for today's measurements. In each case the points had been carefully curved back at the extreme ends, so that the charts should not be injured by their sharp points. A lateral pressure at the sides of the hinged points caused their 'fingers' to open. Their workmanship was perfect."
